Twitter description: Citizenship and American Identity Program. Part of @AspenInstitute. Directed by @ericpliu.

Description of the organization from a third party source: "This program focuses on the challenge of sustaining strong citizenship in America and coherent national identity in an age of demographic flux and severe inequality. The program encompasses a range of cross-partisan activity, from workshops and public forums to leadership convenings and seminar-style discussions. Across our forms of public engagement, we focus on three dimensions of citizenship: values, systems, and skills." Includes the "The Better Arguments Project", which is a new national civic initiative created to help bridge ideological divides "not by papering over those divides but by teaching Americans how to have better arguments. We believe the more we can equip communities to have arguments rooted both in this history and in best practices of constructive communication, the healthier our country will be. The Better Arguments Project is a partnership between the Aspen Institute Citizenship and American Identity Program, Facing History and Ourselves, and The Allstate Corporation.

Paragraphs: FACEBOOK; TWITTER; YOUTUBE; LINKEDIN; INSTAGRAM; FLICKR; RSS; (C)2024 The Aspen Institute. All Rights Reserved; The Citizenship and American Identity Program explores the question of what it means to be American, and how to promote a shared sense of national identity in an age of demographic flux and severe inequality.; We are living through a period of radical concentration of wealth and opportunity in the United States. This severe inequality undermines democracy and erodes the spirit of common cause, mutual responsibility, and reciprocity vital to a republic. In a centrifugal time when this country has never been more diverse and polarized and when its role in the world is rapidly shifting, the question of what it means to be American - and how we create a sustainable story of "us" - is of prime consequence.; The program encompasses a range of cross-partisan activity, from workshops and public forums to leadership convenings and seminar-style discussions. Across our forms of public engagement, we focus on three dimensions of citizenship: values, systems, and skills. The values segment focuses on articulating (and updating) an ethical and creedal framework for American civic identity. The systems segment includes policy proposals, cultural initiatives, and multi-sector collaborations to build social cohesion. The skills segment teaches leaders to construct coalitions and a sense of shared fate across increasingly rigid class and race divides.; Our work has been made possible by Allstate, the Bezos Family Foundation, the Civic Health Project, Democracy Fund, the Fetzer Institute, the New Pluralists Collaborative, and the Omidyar Network.; The Better Arguments Project was created to explore the core arguments that define American identity.; ; "Who Is Us?: A Project on American Identity" is a research project based on the premise that the severe fragmentation of American...; ; The Devil's Advocacy Initiative explores how to counter polarization by empowering Americans to critically assess their own worldviews -...; ; A 21st century sense of civic and cultural literacy has to be radically diverse and inclusive. And it needs to come from all of us. So,...; ; Publication; 02.22.2023; Publication; 01.11.2023;
