

""Twitter handle (and profile name): rmpjc (RockyMtnPeaceCenter)

Twitter description: The Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center, rooted in the spirit of unconditional nonviolence, is dedicated to progressive personal and social change.

Description of the organization from a third party source: "Rooted in the spirit of unconditional nonviolence, the Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center (RMPJC) is dedicated to progressive personal and social change. It is a multi-issue organisation that works to restore and protect Earth and human rights. They educate, organise, act and build community in order to create a culture of justice and peace. In 1983, six individuals who had been involved in nonviolent resistance movements founded the Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center. They felt the need in the Boulder community for a permanent base for addressing peace and justice issues. The distinctive features of the new organisation were its multi-issue nature and its commitment to nonviolence, including its provision of training in nonviolent action, at the time, something that wasn't done in the Denver area. Today, the RMPJC has over 1,000 members and an active wider network of about 2,000 additional individuals and 200 organisations. "

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center | Boulder, Co

Headings: Who We Are; Our Team

Paragraphs: About Us; Latest News; Calendar; Art Show; Collectives; TPNW; Get More Involved!; Contact; Photo Albums; More; Rooted in the spirit of unconditional nonviolence, the Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center is dedicated to radically progressive personal and social change. We are a multi-issue organization that works to restore and protect Earth and human rights. We educate, organize, act and build community in order to create a culture of justice and peace.; Click Here To See The Film!; We welcome you to see this inspiring film, directed and edited by Erik Sween, featuring Chet Tchozewski, and produced by Jeff Gipe.; Our Story; At the Rocky Flats Nuclear Weapons Plant near Denver, people spent years protesting and getting arrested. In 1983 they decided to try something completely different. They surrounded Rocky Flats hand-in-hand around its 17 mile perimeter.; The Encirclement was on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1983. This was the action that lead directly to the founding of the Boulder Peace Center, later renamed Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center.; In 1983 six individuals who had for some years been involved in nonviolent resistance to the nearby Rocky Flats nuclear bomb plant founded the Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center. They felt the need in the Boulder community for a permanent base for addressing peace and justice issues.; The distinctive features of the new organization were it's multi-issue nature and its commitment to nonviolence, including it's provision of training in nonviolent action (something then done by no other organization in the Denver area).; â€œ; How We Make Decisions;; â€œ; The Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center utilizes consensus process in making decisions.; ; This process for deliberating and making decisions honors the dignity and integrity of every individual by carefully considering all points of view in order to reach decisions based on mutual understanding and agreement.; ; Consensus process requires the empowerment of individuals; hence, it is crucial for peacemaking.; ; Our Structure;; â€œ; The structure of RMPJC consists of the spokescouncil (roughly the equivalent of a board of directors), the staff, collectives (described below), regular volunteers and members at large.; ; The Spokescouncil is responsible for overall oversight, policy-making and fundraising. The staff manages the office, administers day-to-day activities and coordinates the work of the collectives. The center as a whole has about 200 active volunteers who are generally local residents and students.; ; Progress We've Made;; â€œ; Enable people to participate actively in democratic processes; Foster a vision for a just and sustainable society; Provide a discussion space to dive into issues from a radical lens; Help build a global movement for peace, justice, and ecological responsibility; Train new and young activists; Raises awareness and educates people on global and local issues; â€œ; (C) 2021 Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based on the information provided, it can be inferred that the organization Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center (RMPJC) is dedicated to promoting peace, justice, and nonviolence in the Rocky Mountain region. The organization offers various programs and collectives focused on issues such as economic justice, global peace, nonviolence education, and nuclear guardianship. RMPJC also hosts events such as art shows and recognizes peacemakers of the year. The organization offers membership, internships, and volunteering opportunities, and maintains an active presence on social media platforms such as Instagram, Twitter, and Facebook. Additionally, RMPJC serves as a fiscal sponsor for other groups and provides resources for international press review. Overall, the organization appears to be actively engaged in advocating for peace and justice through a variety of initiatives and collaborations."""