

""Twitter handle (and profile name): CivilGovernment (Civility in Govt)

Twitter description: "Civility is claiming and caring for one's identity, needs and beliefs without degrading someone else's in the process." Tomas Spath and Cassandra Dahnke

Description of the organization from a third party source: "We are an organization that is building civility in a society that all too often seems tilted toward uncivil speech and actions. We do not endorse any political candidate, nor do we take a position on any issue. We are about process, not positions."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: Home - Institute for Civility; Expand; Expand; Expand; Expand; Search; Toggle Menu; Facebook; Twitter; Instagram; Expand; Expand; Expand; Expand

Headings: Reclaiming civility.; About us; Our goal is a more civil society.; Our Programs; Let's Connect; Civility... straight to your inbox.; What's new?; Here's the latest.; Our Community; We're in this together.; Want to contribute?; About; Training and Programs; Civility Resources; Get Involved

Paragraphs: Welcome to the new InstituteForCivility.org. We recently updated our website and we are glad you are here. If you encounter any issues, please let us know so we can correct them.; Since 1997, the Institute for Civility has been working to promote civility-in government, workplaces, schools, and anywhere people gather to live, learn, work, and play.; In 2023, we updated our name from the Institute for Civility in Government to better reflect the broad scope of our reach.; The Institute for Civility is dedicated to reducing polarization by facilitating dialogue, teaching respect, and building civility in both the public and private spheres.; Gather your team to gain civility skills.; Find Out More âŸ¶; Join like-minded attendees to talk civility.; Find Out More âŸ¶; Build important civility muscles early.; Find Out More âŸ¶; Subscribe to receive news, events, research, and information about civility.; Join a community working to promote civility.; Your gift helps us spread the word about civility through trainings, student events, and other outreach efforts.; Founded in 1997, the Institute for Civility is a non-partisan Â§ 501(c)(3) non-profit recognized by the IRS.; (C) 2024 Institute for Civility | Privacy Policy

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: Mission and Vision - Institute for Civility; Expand; Expand; Expand; Expand; Search; Toggle Menu; Facebook; Twitter; Instagram; Expand; Expand; Expand; Expand

Headings: About Us; Our Why; Mission Statement; Our Hope; Vision; Subscribe; Let's Connect!; About; Training and Programs; Civility Resources; Get Involved

Paragraphs: Welcome to the new InstituteForCivility.org. We recently updated our website and we are glad you are here. If you encounter any issues, please let us know so we can correct them.; Since 1997, the Institute for Civility has been working to promote civility-in government, workplaces, schools, and anywhere people gather to live, learn, work, and play. In 2023, we updated our name from the Institute for Civility in Government to better reflect the broad scope of our reach.; We are a grassroots, non-partisan, non-profit organization that is building civility in a society that all too often seems tilted toward uncivil speech and actions. The Institute does not endorse any political candidate, nor do we take a position on any issue. We are about process, not positions. Not a think tank and not a watchdog organization, we serve as a catalyst for change.; The Institute for Civility is dedicated to reducing polarization by facilitating dialogue, teaching respect, and building civility in both public and private spheres.; We focus on two key threats to civic life in the United States: (1) persistent and growing polarization along lines of race, class, religion, age, and ideology; and, (2) lack of participation in government at all levels-local, state, and national. Apathy and antipathy put our nation at risk. Therefore, we strive to educate Americans about their role in civil society and equip them to participate effectively in it.; We see a day when civility is the norm for all of us where we live, work, and play. Our vision is to support all people in improving civility in their communities, workplaces, government, and world.; Subscribe to learn more about civility and the work we do to promote it.; Founded in 1997, the Institute for Civility is a non-partisan Â§ 501(c)(3) non-profit recognized by the IRS.; (C) 2024 Institute for Civility | Privacy Policy

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: Mission and Vision - Institute for Civility; Expand; Expand; Expand; Expand; Search; Toggle Menu; Facebook; Twitter; Instagram; Expand; Expand; Expand; Expand

Headings: About Us; Our Why; Mission Statement; Our Hope; Vision; Subscribe; Let's Connect!; About; Training and Programs; Civility Resources; Get Involved

Paragraphs: Welcome to the new InstituteForCivility.org. We recently updated our website and we are glad you are here. If you encounter any issues, please let us know so we can correct them.; Since 1997, the Institute for Civility has been working to promote civility-in government, workplaces, schools, and anywhere people gather to live, learn, work, and play. In 2023, we updated our name from the Institute for Civility in Government to better reflect the broad scope of our reach.; We are a grassroots, non-partisan, non-profit organization that is building civility in a society that all too often seems tilted toward uncivil speech and actions. The Institute does not endorse any political candidate, nor do we take a position on any issue. We are about process, not positions. Not a think tank and not a watchdog organization, we serve as a catalyst for change.; The Institute for Civility is dedicated to reducing polarization by facilitating dialogue, teaching respect, and building civility in both public and private spheres.; We focus on two key threats to civic life in the United States: (1) persistent and growing polarization along lines of race, class, religion, age, and ideology; and, (2) lack of participation in government at all levels-local, state, and national. Apathy and antipathy put our nation at risk. Therefore, we strive to educate Americans about their role in civil society and equip them to participate effectively in it.; We see a day when civility is the norm for all of us where we live, work, and play. Our vision is to support all people in improving civility in their communities, workplaces, government, and world.; Subscribe to learn more about civility and the work we do to promote it.; Founded in 1997, the Institute for Civility is a non-partisan 501(c)(3) non-profit recognized by the IRS.; (C) 2024 Institute for Civility | Privacy Policy

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: The Institute for Civility is an organization dedicated to promoting civility in society. They offer various programs and resources to help people learn about and practice civility, including civility training, student programs, and a civility resource center. The organization also advocates for civility in public discourse and works to create a more civil society. Based on the information provided, it appears that the Institute for Civility is a non-profit organization that relies on donations to support its work. They have a presence on social media and offer a variety of ways for people to get involved, including subscribing to their newsletter, donating, and attending events.""