Twitter description: AmerXchange invites students at colleges across America to collaborate across the urban/rural divide. Visit <https://t.co/ft5P0165zz> to learn more!

Description of the organization from a third party source: "AmerXchange is an initiative dedicated to cultivating and promoting innovative collaboration across urban/rural divides. Our country has become entrenched in polarized political positions and opposing identities, but the truth is that we all have unique strengths shaped by where and how we grew up. Our aim is to harness the power of those strengths by equipping the next generation of American leaders with the ability to transform division into an opportunity for innovative collaboration."
