

""Twitter handle (and profile name): OpenPrimaryUSA (Open Primaries)

Twitter description: Open Primaries is a movement of diverse Americans who believe no one should be required to join a political party to exercise their right to vote.

Description of the organization from a third party source: "Open Primaries mission is to advocate for open and nonpartisan primary systems, counter efforts to impose closed primaries, educate voters, train and support spokespeople, and participate in the building of local, state and national open primaries coalitions"

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: OPEN-PRIMARIES | HOME; Home - OPEN-PRIMARIES

Headings: IT'S TIME TO LET ALL VOTERS VOTE_x000D_

#REPEAL CLOSED PRIMARIES; WHY OPEN PRIMARIES?; THE ORGANIZATION; THE ISSUE; Social Media Feed; WELCOME TO THE MOVEMENT; LET'S GET TO WORK; Campaigns for Primary Reform; Litigating Equal Voting Rights; Defending Open Primaries; Media; Highlights; SIGN-UP AS A SUPPORTER

Paragraphs: ; Sign up as a volunteerTo receive our newsletter; ; Sign up as a volunteer; To receive our newsletter; ; Open Primaries is building a coalition of diverse Americans_x000D_ to enact open primaries in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. territories; ; POLITICO: Louisiana's new governor wants to close the state's primaries and shut out hundreds of thousands of voters; ; USAToday: In NH, democracy is the top issue for voters; ; BREAKING: Support for the amendment to open the primaries in South Dakota continues to grow!; ; NBC News: 6 states are rethinking how they run their primaries in 2024; ; The Fulcrum: Welcome to brash tacks: there's magic in an open primary system! Check out John Opdycke's new monthly column in The Fulcrum- highlighting the work of AZ leader and reformer Paul Johnson this month!; ; The Hill: Open primaries makes the Hill's top 5 ballot measures to watch NATIONALLY in 2024!; ; REMINDER MAINERS: Maine now has semi open primaries-unenrolled voters can now participate in the upcoming 2024 primaries!; ; WATCH: Can One of the Nation's Biggest Political Battlegrounds Lead the Way on Pro-Voter Reform?; ; BREAKING: Idahoans for Open Primaries' campaign to get open primaries on the ballot in Idaho have gotten 50% of their signature goal!; ; DONATE: Please consider making a tax deductible end of year gift today to go directly towards our 2024 efforts.; ; GOVERNING: Opening Up Primary Elections Is a Voting Rights IssueRead OP Senior VP Jeremy Gruber's latest piece; ; Times Free Press: Tennessee HAS open primaries. The TN GOP introducing the "polling place sign bill" is trying to scare voters so that they can drive participation numbers down. Do not be intimidated!; ; BREAKING: A second closed primary bill has been introduced in Ohio. Forcing voters to register into a party in order to participate in primaries is unAmerican and wrong;; ; WATCH: ASU's Thom Relly on the rise of Independent voters in Arizona-now AZ's LARGEST voting bloc!;; ; REGISTER: Our next virtual discussion: Can Arizona Lead the Way on Democratic Reform? Tuesday December 12th at 3pm ET;; ; WATCH: What to know about a proposal that could change elections in South Dakota;; ; Would Oklahomans approve a change in the state's primary election system?;; ; BREAKING NEWS: Exciting new lawsuit has been filed in Tennessee by the LWV challenging the unlawful attempt to bar independent voters from the state's open primary;; ; NEW STUDY: Finds that 65% of New Yorkers want open primaries;; ; IVN: To Be Truly Open, More Reform Is Needed to Maine Primaries;; ; OPINION: Better government with better elections;; ; PENN LIVE: Former Chairs of the PA Republican and Democratic parties Alan Novak and T.J. Rooney urge legislators to embrace initiatives under consideration that would repeal closed primaries and open up the system to ALL PA voters;; ; OPINION: Independents drive political change;; ; MSN.com: Our country needs us to participate in and defend its democracy at home;; ; GOOD NEWS: A filing mistake by DC Democrats could doom their efforts to block an open primaries initiative!;; ; WATCH: Young Voters Stand Up for Open Primaries;; ; Have you registered for our next Virtual Discussion yet? Young Voters Stand Up for Open Primaries;; ; Nevada Independent: No wonder people are registering as Independents;; ; Ballotpedia: Last year, independent voters became the largest group of voters in the state of NC. Now, North Carolina lawmakers made independent voter participation in partisan primaries a permanent feature of state election law!;; ; Watch: South Dakota Open Primaries petition drive to get open primaries on the ballot hit a major milestone!;; ; Texas Monthly: Sinners in the Hands of an Angry GOP;; ; Nonpartisan voters are now the largest bloc of voters in Nevada;; ; For the first time ever, 2 open primary bills have passed through a State Assembly Committee and are heading towards a full vote of the body! Help us get this campaign to the next level-make a special donation TODAY!;; ; WATCH: Fighting for Open Primaries in Democratic Party Strongholds: The Good, The Bad and The Ugly;; ; DC should have open primaries;; ; Our next virtual discussion: Young Voters Stand Up for Open Primaries. Thursday November 16. 3pm ET. REGISTER TODAY;; ; WATCH: Students rally at Pennsylvania's state capitol to call for open primaries;; ; New Poll: Voters Overwhelmingly Support Eliminating Partisan Primaries;; ; The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Editorial Boards endorses open primaries for PA;; ; WATCH: Students rally at Pennsylvania's state capitol to call for open primaries;; ; Almost 2/3 of young voters in Pennsylvania are independents and shut out of voting in primaries. But, they've had enough. Led by co-chairs from 15 PA colleges and universities, student voters will rally at the state capitol in Harrisburg;; ; There are more Arizona voters registered with no political party than with either of the two major parties, but primary elections in the Grand Canyon State continue to operate under a two-party system - but a newly launched campaign aiming for a spot on the 2024 ballot seeks to change that;; ; RSVP: Our next virtual discussion is coming up on 9/21 at 2pm ET: California's Top Two Primary-A Successful Reform featuring Dr. Richard Barton. Come find out how CA's primary system has led to decreased polarization, improved voter participation, and increased electoral competition!;; ; BREAKING: Independent voters are now the LARGEST bloc of voters in Arizona. More & more Arizonans are opting out of partisan politics-maybe it's time our election process reflected that shift!; ; BREAKING: A proposed law in Wyoming will require voters to affiliate with a party before candidates have even filed to run. This new law excludes voters and furthers inequities in the voting process.; ; The bad news keeps coming for partisan insiders as support gains to adopt a top 4 nonpartisan open primary.; ; Check out some highlights from July's Oklahoma United 's Town Hall discussing the on-going campaign to open OK's primary system to ALL voters.; ; ; First Name*; Surname*; Email Address*; ; ; Open Primaries is building a coalition of diverse Americans to enact open primaries in all 50 states; 646-205-0202; 244 Madison Ave, #1106 New York, NY 10016; info@openprimaries.org; Press Inquiries: press@openprimaries.org; ; ; ; (C) Copyright 2022 by Clickysoft. All rights reserved.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: Meet our Staff - OPEN-PRIMARIES

Headings: MEET OUR Team; National Staff & Board; MEET THE OPEN PRIMARIES; SPOKESPERSON COMMITTEE; Meet Students for; Open Primaries; Campaign; Leadership; Sign-up as a Supporter

Paragraphs: ; Sign up as a volunteerTo receive our newsletter; ; ; Sign up as a volunteer; To receive our newsletter; ; John Opdycke is the Founder and President of Open Primaries. He is an activist and strategist with 30 years of experience working in independent, alternative and reform politics. He is one of the country's most visible and vocal advocates for electoral reform and political independence.; Opdycke began his career as a fundraiser and researcher for the Rainbow Lobby, which advocated for ballot access and debate reform in the late 1980's. In 1992, he joined Dr. Lenora Fulani's independent campaign for president as a regional fundraising director. In 1994, he participated in the founding of the New York State Independence Party, a state affiliate of the National Reform Party. In 1998, he became the director of development and COS at the Committee for a Unified Independent Party. In 2001 he helped elect Mike Bloomberg as the first independent Mayor of New York City. He founded Open Primaries in 2009 and expanded it nationally in 2014.; He has appeared on Fox News, MSNBC, Al Jazeera, Cheddar TV, PBS, and NBC and his written commentary on the subject of independent politics and electoral reform has appeared in USA Today, Newsweek, The Hill, and dozens of local publications. His monthly column, Brash Tacts, is published on the Fulcrum and syndicated nationally.; He attended the University of Michigan. He lives in Chicago.; Jeremy is the Senior Vice President at Open Primaries. He is a lawyer, writer, and internationally recognized public policy advocate who has helped enact over 60 state, federal and international laws and regulations. These include the successful passage of the first U.S. civil rights law in over twenty years, the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act (GINA), a federal law protecting Americans from genetic discrimination.; Gruber has wide ranging experience in public policy and public affairs work, public education, coalition and grassroots building. He has testified before the U.S. Congress, the FDA, and numerous state, federal and international legislative and regulatory bodies. Previously, he worked as the field director for the American Civil Liberties Union's National Taskforce on Civil Liberties in the Workplace, then as legal director for the National Workrights Institute and more recently Executive Director of the Council for Responsible Genetics; a public interest organization focusing on bioethics.; Gruber is regularly featured in the press and is the author of three books, Genetic Explanations: Sense and Nonsense published by Harvard University Press, Biotechnology in Our Lives published by Skyhorse Publishing, and The GMO Deception by Skyhorse Publishing.; Gruber received his Juris Doctor (J.D.) from St. John's University School of Law and a B.A. in Politics from Brandeis University.; He and his wife live in Brooklyn with their two sons.; Russell Daniels manages digital communication, content creation, and video production for Open Primaries. He maintains the websites and on-line campaign hubs and creates content for distribution across all of our digital platforms. Russell is also an accomplished actor. He is also an actor who has appeared on Broadway in Gutenberg the Musical and Off Broadway in the cult hit Titanique. He can be seen regularly with his sketch team Uncle Function.; He holds a Bachelors of Music from The Crane School of Music at SUNY Potsdam and an MFA in Acting from The Professional Theater Training Program at The University of Houston.; Dr. Jessie Fields is an attending physician in Internal Medicine affiliated with the Mount Sinai Hospital in Manhattan. She maintains a primary care general medical practice at the Mount Sinai Faculty Practice in the Harlem community. She is on the faculty of the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai and an adjunct faculty member at the Touro College of Osteopathic Medicine. At both medical schools Dr. Fields is a role model for medical students pursuing careers in primary care in underserved communities.; Having grown up in a poor black community in Philadelphia, she set out on a career to bring better health conditions to poor urban communities. Dr. Fields was awarded a National Public Health Service Corps medical scholarship and attended Bryn Mawr College and the Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. She completed her residency in Internal Medicine at the Hospital of the Medical College of Pennsylvania in 1985, and became Board Certified in Internal Medicine the same year.; During medical school she worked on the West Side of Chicago at a neighborhood health center where she initiated a hypertension screening program. As a physician she would go on to practice at the same community health center.; Dr. Fields moved to New York City in 1991, initially working as a primary care physician for the Health Insurance Plan of New York, in Brooklyn and then for the 32-BJ Union Health Center in Manhattan. In 1994 she became affiliated with North General Hospital in Harlem and remained on the voluntary staff there until the hospital closed in 2010.; An advocate for the health of the Harlem community, Dr. Fields took her commitment to community health into the political arena and has run for public office as an independent candidate, including for Manhattan Borough President in 2005 and for other local offices. She is very active as an independent leader.; David Belmont is a community organizer and mixed media artist living in New York City. He has been active in independent politics since 1979. David was the National Ballot Access Coordinator for Dr. Lenora Fulani's historic run for president in 1988 when she became the first woman and first African-American to qualify for the ballot in all 50 states (plus DC). Currently he is a researcher and statistician for Independent Voting, as well as a member of the production and promotion team for the East Side Institute. David has been a professional musician for over 50 years, producing 25 albums of his own work (7 of which are on Spotify) along with being the producer and/or executive producer for projects featuring Dr. John, Cassandra Wilson, Olu Dara, Ilhan Ersahin and Pat Wictor. He is co-music director of the Castillo Theatre. World Gone Zoom, David's first book of poetry, was published in 2021. He also writes memoir and short fiction. You can find his writing at: <https://davidbelmontwriter.wordpress.com>; David Cherry is President of the Leaders Network, a collaborative of faith and community leaders working together to organize, strategize and mobilize to improve the quality of life for the West side communities and Greater Chicago. He is also Senior Vice President/Youth and Community Development and City Leader of the All Stars Project of Chicago, a nationally recognized youth development organization. Born in Harlem, David grew up in the South Bronx just a couple of blocks from the once-infamous Charlotte Street neighborhood, a national symbol for the poverty and devastation of America's inner cities in the 1970s.; Featured Press;; Cherry endorses STL Approves; John Opdycke is the Founder and President of Open Primaries. He is an activist and strategist with 30 years of experience working in independent, alternative and reform politics. He is one of the country's most visible and vocal advocates for electoral reform and political independence.; Opdycke began his career as a fundraiser and researcher for the Rainbow Lobby, which advocated for ballot access and debate reform in the late 1980's. In 1992, he joined Dr. Lenora Fulani's independent campaign for president as a regional fundraising director. In 1994, he participated in the founding of the New York State Independence Party, a state affiliate of the National Reform Party. In 1998, he became the director of development and COS at the Committee for a Unified Independent Party. In 2001 he helped elect Mike Bloomberg as the first independent Mayor of New York City. He founded Open Primaries in 2009 and expanded it nationally in 2014.; He has appeared on Fox News, MSNBC, Al Jazeera, Cheddar TV, PBS, and NBC and his written commentary on the subject of independent politics and electoral reform has appeared in USA Today, Newsweek, The Hill, and dozens of local publications. His monthly column, Brash Tacts, is published on the Fulcrum and syndicated nationally.; He attended the University of Michigan. He lives in Chicago.; Jeremy is the Senior Vice President at Open Primaries. He is a lawyer, writer, and internationally recognized public policy advocate who has helped enact over 60 state, federal and international laws and regulations. These include the successful passage of the first U.S. civil rights law in over twenty years, the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act (GINA), a federal law protecting Americans from genetic discrimination.; Gruber has wide ranging experience in public policy and public affairs work, public education, coalition and grassroots building. He has testified before the U.S. Congress, the FDA, and numerous state, federal and international legislative and regulatory bodies. Previously, he worked as the field director for the American Civil Liberties Union's National Taskforce on Civil Liberties in the Workplace, then as legal director for the National Workrights Institute and more recently Executive Director of the Council for Responsible Genetics; a public interest organization focusing on bioethics.; Gruber is regularly featured in the press and is the author of three books, Genetic Explanations: Sense and Nonsense published by Harvard University Press, Biotechnology in Our Lives published by Skyhorse Publishing, and The GMO Deception by Skyhorse Publishing.; Gruber received his Juris Doctor (J.D.) from St. John's University School of Law and a B.A. in Politics from

Brandeis University.; He and his wife live in Brooklyn with their two sons.; Russell Daniels manages digital communication, content creation, and video production for Open Primaries. He maintains the websites and on-line campaign hubs and creates content for distribution across all of our digital platforms. Russell is also an accomplished actor. He is also an actor who has appeared on Broadway in Gutenberg the Musical and Off Broadway in the cult hit Titanique. He can be seen regularly with his sketch team Uncle Function.; He holds a Bachelors of Music from The Crane School of Music at SUNY Potsdam and an MFA in Acting from The Professional Theater Training Program at The University of Houston.; Dr. Jessie Fields is an attending physician in Internal Medicine affiliated with the Mount Sinai Hospital in Manhattan. She maintains a primary care general medical practice at the Mount Sinai Faculty Practice in the Harlem community. She is on the faculty of the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai and an adjunct faculty member at the Touro College of Osteopathic Medicine. At both medical schools Dr. Fields is a role model for medical students pursuing careers in primary care in underserved communities.; Having grown up in a poor black community in Philadelphia, she set out on a career to bring better health conditions to poor urban communities. Dr. Fields was awarded a National Public Health Service Corps medical scholarship and attended Bryn Mawr College and the Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. She completed her residency in Internal Medicine at the Hospital of the Medical College of Pennsylvania in 1985, and became Board Certified in Internal Medicine the same year.; During medical school she worked on the West Side of Chicago at a neighborhood health center where she initiated a hypertension screening program. As a physician she would go on to practice at the same community health center.; Dr. Fields moved to New York City in 1991, initially working as a primary care physician for the Health Insurance Plan of New York, in Brooklyn and then for the 32-BJ Union He

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based solely on the provided information, it can be inferred that this organization is dedicated to promoting open primaries in the United States. The organization has a website, social media accounts, and contact information, suggesting that it is a legitimate and active organization. The website includes information about the organization's mission, history, and staff, as well as resources for research and advocacy. The organization also appears to be involved in litigation and advocacy efforts related to primary elections and voting rights. Additionally, the organization has a history of hosting virtual discussions, webinars, and events, indicating its commitment to engaging with the public and promoting dialogue about primary elections."""