

""Twitter handle (and profile name): nabatchi (Tina Nabatchi)

Twitter description: Joseph A. Strasser Endowed Professor of Public Administration, Maxwell School of Citizenship & Public Affairs, Syracuse University @napawash Fellow

Description of the organization from a third party source: "Tina Nabatchi is an assistant professor of public administration at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs

Headings: What Makes Maxwell Different?; Step into the Maxwell Community; How Will You Change the World?; Influence with Integrity; Apply now to a professional graduate program and start in 2024; Council of Europe Agreement a 'Gem of an Opportunity' for Syracuse Students and Faculty; Fall 2023; Orange Central Attendees Hear Plans to Celebrate Maxwell's Centennial; Maxwell School Joins Volcker Alliance to Bring Next Generation Leaderships Corps to University; Maxwell School Ranks #1 for Public Affairs in 2024; A Conversation with George Washington; Explore Maxwell's Washington, D.C., headquarters at CSIS; Maxwell in Action; EXPLORE BY;; Over Three-Quarters There!; Upcoming Events; I am Maxwell.; Lauren McNamara '21 B.A. / '22 M.P.A.

Paragraphs: Maxwell is where diverse and collaborative problem solvers develop innovative solutions to move people, policies and communities forward.; Why We're Different; The best way to get to know Maxwell is to visit. Can't make it to campus? Take a virtual tour, attend an event online, or engage with an Alumni Ambassador.; Visit Us; No matter where you are in your academic journey, there's a Maxwell program designed to help you develop knowledge, skills and contacts to improve your community.; Explore Programs; research centers generating policy-relevant insight into pressing issues; ranked for public affairs (U.S. News & World Report); departments teaching excellence in social science and public/international affairs; It's not just an education. It's a mindset. Maxwell students celebrate diverse people and ideas. They value informed and ethical leadership. They are engaged-and engaging-citizens primed to shape the future.; Our acclaimed education programs combine the study of human society and relationships with opportunities to address relevant social challenges.; In this issue: Read about the experiences of students and alumni from Ukraine and efforts by Maxwell scholars to support their embattled country; plans to celebrate the School's 100th anniversary in 2024; and a professor's remarkable discovery-what's believed to be the first English outpost in Africa.; The program will provide training and experiential learning for future public servants across Syracuse's schools and colleges.; ; Jan 19, 2024; Reeher Quoted in

Newsweek and USA Today Articles on Presidential Candidates Biden and Trump;
Federal_x000D_x000D_

, Political Parties_x000D_x000D_

, U.S. Elections_x000D_x000D_

, United States; Jan 19, 2024; Murrett Talks to GlobalSecurity.org
About the Ongoing Attacks by the Houthi Fighters; Conflict_x000D_x000D_

, Defense & Security_x000D_x000D_

, Government_x000D_x000D_

, International Affairs_x000D_x000D_

, Middle East & North Africa_x000D_x000D_

, Terrorism & Extremism; Jan 18, 2024; Khalil Comments on
Secretary of State Blinken's Latest Middle East Trip in Al Jazeera Article; Conflict_x000D_x000D_

, Federal_x000D_x000D_

, International Affairs_x000D_x000D_

, Middle East & North Africa_x000D_x000D_

, United States; Jan 17, 2024; Mazza Fellowship Provides Local Government Experience to MPA Student Nate Cole; Awards & Honors_x000D_x000D_

, New York State_x000D_x000D_

, State & Local_x000D_x000D_

, Student Experience; With incredible support, our start is strong. But to meet our campaign goals, we will need to raise the remaining $30 million to support Campaign Priorities from the School's long-range strategic plan.; We continue to follow the advice of local public health officials in regards to in-person events. Please check Syracuse University's Stay Safe website for the latest safety protocols before coming to campus or other in-person venues.; Eggers Hall, 220; 2:00PM-3:30PM; Eggers Hall, 220; 4:00PM-5:30PM; Eggers Hall, 341; 12:00PM-1:30PM; I knew that I was interested in going into environmental work, but I was missing that natural sciences foundation. ESP has given me the qualitative and quantitative foundation that I needed...The faculty members were amazing in encouraging me and helping me make it all work."; Undergraduate triple major: international relations; economics; environment, sustainability and policy; Read about Lauren's experiences at Maxwell; Maxwell Quick Links;; Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs; 200

Eggers Hall; Syracuse, NY 13244-1020; 315.443.2252; (C) Syracuse University. Knowledge crowns those who seek her.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: About

Headings: About the Maxwell School; Why We're Different; Enriched by Diversity; Working together to make the world a better place; Excellence in Undergraduate, Graduate and Continuing Professional Education; Distinctive Undergraduate Programs; Top Ranked Graduate Programs; Innovative, Flexible Professional Training Programs; Impactful, Policy-Relevant Research Paragraphs: What makes Maxwell such a special place to research, teach, study, learn, practice and work?; The Maxwell School is a community of scholars who believe that responsible citizenship is not just a concept; it's the active, ongoing pursuit to empower a more healthy and inclusive society. It's a community of diverse individuals dedicated to making the world a better place-and to helping each other succeed.; Because when any one of us succeeds, our communities are better for it.; About; faculty across 11 highly regarded departments of social science and public policy; research centers generating policy-relevant insight into pressing issues; students enrolled in undergraduate, graduate and professional programs; The first school of its kind, Maxwell is known for a tradition of innovative excellence in teaching and research across the social sciences, public policy, public administration and international relations.; Organized around 14 interdisciplinary research centers focused on addressing pressing societal issues, Maxwell's unique structure cultivates an ecosystem for ideas sparked by the convergence of expertise across the social sciences and public policy.; At the Maxwell School, diversity is both a core value and a distinguishing characteristic. We strive to create spaces that make every member of our community feel welcomed, supported, empowered and valued.; Time and again, we find that the most innovative ideas and comprehensive solutions arise when we bring together people representing different identities, backgrounds and experiences. In a complex, collaborative environment like the Maxwell School, diversity not only enriches us but also is essential for achieving our highest ambitions.; Maxwell offers a rich mix of undergraduate, graduate professional, and scholarly M.A. and Ph.D. programs that prepare new generations of leaders with an expansive foundation of knowledge and a socially responsible mindset.; No major graduate school of public affairs mixes these diverse elements the way Maxwell does. It is one reason why the the school is consistently ranked one of the nation's top schools of public affairs in surveys of peer-school faculty conducted by U.S. News & World Report.; The Maxwell School is one of 13 schools and colleges of Syracuse University, a private, international research university located in the geographic heart of New York State, offering a choice of more than 200 majors and 100 minors. The University's global footprint includes nearly 15,000 undergraduates and 5,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit www.syracuse.edu;

Undergraduates who major or minor in the social sciences, public policy or citizenship and civic engagement at Syracuse University benefit from the same faculty who earn Maxwell its high rankings in research and graduate education, as well as opportunities to conduct research, spend a semester at Maxwell's headquarters in Washington, D.C., or study at more than 100 partner locations abroad.; In addition, a new accelerated bachelor's/master's program puts a Maxwell graduate professional degree in public administration or international affairs within reach for highly-qualified undergraduate applicants with just one additional year of study.; Maxwell scholars and students conduct wide-ranging research through interdisciplinary centers, each focused on a topical area within public affairs, such as social and economic policy, conflict and collaboration, public wellness, aging, energy and environment, national security, and regional studies, among others.; Faculty are sought-after experts in their field who regularly provide testimony to Congress, participate in media interviews, receive prominent grant awards and fellowships, and advise a wide range of private, nonprofit and public agencies at every level of government.; Maxwell Quick Links:; Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs; 200 Eggers Hall; Syracuse, NY 13244-1020; 315.443.2252; (C) Syracuse University. Knowledge crowns those who seek her.

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: This organization appears to be an academic institution, likely a university or college. It has various departments and programs, including undergraduate and graduate studies, as well as non-degree programs and short-format courses. The organization also offers research opportunities through its centers and institutes. It emphasizes diversity, equity, and inclusion, and has a strong alumni network. There are opportunities for prospective students to request information, visit the campus, and apply for admission. The organization also provides financial aid and scholarships to students. Additionally, it hosts events, publishes news and articles, and has an active social media presence."