

""Twitter handle (and profile name): ElectionScience (The Center for Election Science)

Twitter description: We're a nonpartisan nonprofit dedicated to empowering people with voting methods that strengthen democracyâ€”with an emphasis on approval voting.

Description of the organization from a third party source: "The Center for Election Science is dedicated to helping the world use smarter election systems. We do this because the collective decisions we make through voting dramatically impact our day-to-day lives. Smarter collective decisions promise to provide us all with a better quality of life."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: The Center for Election Science | Fairer, More Representative Elections

Headings: Approval Voting bridges America's divide.; Problem & Solution; What is Approval Voting?; ; What's New?

Paragraphs: `document.getElementById( "ak_js_1" ).setAttribute( "value", ( new Date() ).getTime() );`; A simple solution to repair our democracy that is supported by over 70% of the public!; These issues plague our elections thanks to our terrible voting method. Learn how better voting methods, like approval voting, solve these problems.; Support Our Work; The Center for Election Science is a nonpartisan nonprofit dedicated to empowering voters with voting methods that strengthen democracy. We believe you deserve a vote that empowers you to impact the world you live in.; Invest in a better voting method that empowers you - not politicians.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: About Us | The Center for Election Science

Headings: About Us; Who Are We?; How Do We Empower Voters?; What Is Approval Voting?; Our Commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion; Want to get involved?; Proud Members of Bridge Alliance

Paragraphs: `document.getElementById( "ak_js_1" ).setAttribute( "value", ( new Date() ).getTime() );`; Founded in 2011, The Center for Election Science is a national, nonpartisan nonprofit focused on voting reform.; Our Mission - To empower people with voting methods that strengthen democracy.; Our Vision - A world where democracies thrive because voters' voices are heard.; With an emphasis on approval voting, we bring better elections to people across the country through both advocacy and research.; The movement for a better way to vote is rapidly gaining momentum as voters grow tired of election results that don't represent the will of the people. In 2018, we worked with locals in Fargo, ND to help them become the first city in the U.S. to adopt approval voting. And in 2020, we helped grassroots activists empower the 300k people of St. Louis, MO with stronger democracy through approval voting.; The folks behind The Center for Election Science are ordinary people with a passion for democracy and a desire to help voters' voices be heard. As a virtual organization, our staff and board members are based in cities all across the country-from North Dakota to Virginia.; Check out our Meet the Team page to learn more about us!; Want to know who our donors are? Check out our Transparency page where you'll find a full list of donors in our most recent annual report.; We focus on building grassroots movements in cities across the country and supporting people in bringing change to their own communities.; There is no "one-size-fits-all" solution, and the context in every city and state is different. We trust locals to know what is right for their community. Luckily, approval voting is a flexible method that can adjust to accommodate the diverse election systems we see across cities.; Through our Approval Voting Chapter Program, we bring grassroots reformers together and give them the guidance and tools they need to start advocating in their area. The end goal is for chapters to build support in their communities and eventually launch their own ballot initiative campaigns or successfully lobby their local governments to implement approval voting.; In 2020, we launched our first-ever Request for Proposals to provide grants for approval voting campaigns to grassroots groups. We plan to grow and continue this RFP process as a means of supporting advocates across the country who are working to bring approval voting to their communities.; With approval voting, you can vote for all the candidates you want-sort of like giving a thumbs up or a thumbs down to every candidate on the ballot. The candidate with the most votes wins. It's as simple as that!; Learn more at the following links;; As part of our mission to empower voters and strengthen democracy, The Center for Election Science is committed to creating a diverse, inclusive, and equitable movement for voting method reform where all voices are heard.; As we seek to involve the voices of more Americans in the election process through approval voting, we recognize that embracing policies and practices that promote equity within our organization is also crucial to our work.; Read our diversity statement here.; Join our email list to stay in the loop on campaigns, chapter meetings, events, and volunteer opportunities!; ; Invest in a better voting method that empowers you - not politicians.

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based solely on the information provided, it can be inferred that this organization is dedicated to promoting election science and advocating for electoral reforms. The organization provides various resources and tools to educate the public about voting systems, including information on approval voting, voting rights, and the problems associated with the current electoral system. They also offer opportunities for individuals to take action and advocate for changes to the electoral system, such as contacting legislators and pledging support for specific reforms. Additionally, the organization has a strong focus on transparency and diversity, equity, and inclusion, as evidenced by their commitment to open access and their stance on these issues."""