

""Twitter handle (and profile name): hearme_app (HearMe App)

Twitter description: Be yourself. We'll listen._x000D_

#mentalhealth & #wellness app connecting you to active listeners for emotional peer support. Ft in @Forbes & @USAtoday

Description of the organization from a third party source: "Our mission is to use the power of empathetic listening to bring people together and make the world a kinder place. We are an antidote for divisiveness, and we support each other always. We encourage the diverse expression of yourself in an anonymous exchange, without judgement. We have strong foundational principles which are our guiding force."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: HearMe - Be yourself. We'll listen.

Headings: Be yourself. We'll listen.; Peer support for every moment; 57% increase in mood; Individuals; Health Plans; Enterprises; Become a HearMe Listener; HearMe Member; HearMe Member; HearMe Member; HearMe Listener; Join our Email List Paragraphs: What if every time you needed to get something off your chest, you could?

â€œNow you can. â€œHearMe combats loneliness and improves emotional well-being with digital peer support, 24/7/365, confidentially & anonymously. This evidence-supported mental wellness service is now offered to individuals, enterprises & health plans.; HearMe conversations resulted in a significant increase in mood by approximately 57% after a single conversation. Research studies conclusively prove the efficacy of HearMe. -Brinberg, Jones, Birnbaum, Bodie, Nam & Solomon, Stanford, Northwell Health, Penn State, Ohio State, Univ. Minnesota, Univ. Mississippi; Interested in becoming a HearMe Listener? Our listener community comprises volunteers, interns, and professionals.; HearMe seeks to train volunteer Listeners to provide one-on-one active listening support via real-time text-based chat to bring people together and make the world a kinder place. Volunteer Listeners would also gain access to the HearMe Community, free membership, and professional training and events. If you'd like to become a Listener for HearMe, please complete the form using the button below.; I can't express how much of a blessing it was to chat with a listener. They listened well and were intuitive, perceptive, and insightful. I really needed a sincere and real person and they were there.; I've started using it and I love it. It enables me to express my emotions, issues, concerns freely and I know that someone listens, not just hears me without prejudice.; She's empathetic, listens and takes a back step when we are venting. She also made me realize it's important to focus on oneself no matter how many failures come your way!; This is such a wonderful way to connect with people. As a Listener, I am so happy to be a part of such an amazing, supportive, and truly caring community. There is no better feeling than being able to connect with people who just need someone to listen and offer support. I highly recommend this app for those in need of support.; HearMe is not a crisis hotline or for serious mental health issues that require a mental health professional. If you are in crisis, do not use the site or app, and please contact the National Suicide Prevention Hotline at 988 for immediate help or talk to a mental health professional.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: About HearMe

Headings: About Us; Meet the Founder; "What HearMe does is simple. It isn't a complex idea. But it is profound. It is what being human is all about."; Our Team; Board of Directors; Join our Email List Paragraphs: Founded by Adam Lippin, HearMe is committed to using the power of listening to provide a safe space for people to share what's on their minds with listeners who want to be there. During his teens and early 20s, Adam struggled with addiction and loneliness. By sharing his experiences with others in his recovery, Adam learned about the benefits of peer support. These transformative experiences led Adam to create HearMe to make it possible for everyone to authentically connect with another human being and experience the benefits of being truly heard. With loneliness and mental health increasingly becoming a public health crisis, there's never been a more important time for people to find the support they need.; HearMe is not a crisis hotline or for serious mental health issues that require a mental health professional. If you are in crisis, do not use the site or app, and please contact the National Suicide Prevention Hotline at 988 for immediate help or talk to a mental health professional.

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based on the provided information, it can be inferred that this organization is likely involved in providing hearing-related services or products. The presence of links to pages such as "HearMe for Individuals," "HearMe for Enterprises," "Medicare," and "Medicaid" suggests that the organization caters to a wide range of audiences, including individuals, businesses, and healthcare providers. The inclusion of sections on "Listeners Training" and "Training Opportunities" indicates that the organization offers training programs related to hearing and listening. Additionally, the links to app stores and pages for the HearMe app suggest that the organization has a mobile application component to its services. The presence of social media links and a blog further indicates that the organization actively engages with its audience and provides information and updates related to its activities. Overall, the organization appears to be focused on providing hearing-related solutions and services to various stakeholders."""