

""Twitter handle (and profile name): YoungInvincible (Young Invincibles)

Twitter description: A young adult research & advocacy group. Mobilizing our generation to advance solutions on higher education, health care, jobs, & civic engagement.

Description of the organization from a third party source: "Young Invincibles was founded by a group of students in the summer of 2009, motivated by the recognition that young people's voices were not being heard in the debate over health care reform. Young Invincibles' mission is to amplify the voices of young adults in the political process and expand economic opportunity for our generation. "

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: Young Invincibles | Elevating the voices of Young Americans on top issues, such as healthcare, jobs, and higher education.

Headings: Young Invincibles; Together, Invincible.; Over 500,000 people are part of the Young Invincibles network.; The Financial Health of Young America; Meet YI's Executive Director!; How Homelessness Impacts College Success in New York City; The Latest; 60+ Organizations Urge the Department of Education to Finish the Job and Deliver on President Biden's Promise to Cancel Student Debt; New Year, New Health Care; "Our Work Is Making a Difference": Senator Baldwin Joins Protect Our Care and Young Invincibles to Release New Report on How the ACA Benefits Young Americans; Hochul's Hypocrisy on Mental Health for Young Adults; Say It With Us: Mental Health is Preventive Health; 2024 Mental Health Agenda; Our Issues; Follow Us; Join the Young Invincibles Network

Paragraphs: ; Our new report examines the financial stability of young adults - including a hard look at racial wealth gaps and how the pandemic made them worse. An update to our 2017 report, we review income, employment, homeownership, retirement savings, and student debt to paint a whole picture of where young adult finances are today.; Meet Young Invincibles' Executive Director, Kristin McGuire!; As a youth organizer by background, and having previously served as YI Regional Director for California, Kristin has built an incredible network of young adults who have formed the advocacy foundation of this organization.; New York City is in the midst of an educational crisis: the increasing share of students experiencing homelessness. Today, one out of every ten students enrolled in New York City's public schools lacks a reliable, safe place to sleep at night, while 14 percent of CUNY students face homelessness while enrolled in classes. Young Invincibles spoke with more than 60 young adults across New York City. Our report examines the barriers these young people outlined, along with insights from leading researchers, service providers, and government officials. We also share recommendations for addressing the growing crisis of college student homelessness.; We get it - adulting can be hard. Trying to figure out how to get health care, pay back your loans, start saving, or other ways to get your adult life started? Check out our tips on the Adulting 101 page.; The Data Lab is the nerve center of Young Invincibles' quantitative research. Learn more about how we're putting young adults at the center of unique in-house research.; See our latest statements, press releases, and blogs in the Newsroom.; Young Invincibles' storytelling program serves as a platform for raising up young people's lived experiences. Check out what young people are saying about today's top policy debates, and join in the conversation!; Young Invincibles takes on our generation's most pressing economic issues.; (C)2024 Young Invincibles. All Rights Reserved.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based on the information provided, Young Invincibles appears to be a non-profit organization dedicated to advocating for and empowering young people in the United States. The organization focuses on issues that are relevant to young adults, such as higher education, healthcare, workforce finances, and civic engagement. They aim to educate, mobilize, and advocate for policies that benefit young people and promote their well-being. The organization engages in various activities, including research, policy analysis, advocacy campaigns, community organizing, and voter mobilization. They also provide resources, tools, and educational materials to young people to help them navigate these issues and make informed decisions. Additionally, Young Invincibles collaborates with partners, including other organizations, policymakers, and young leaders, to amplify their impact and create positive change for young people. ""