

""Twitter handle (and profile name): codepink (CODEPINK)

Twitter description: Feminist grassroots organization working to support peace & human rights & end U.S. wars & militarism. *Retweets & links are not endorsements. Join us! ἀμῖ,🇺🇸

Description of the organization from a third party source: "CODEPINK is a women-led grassroots organization working to end U.S. wars and militarism, support peace and human rights initiatives, and redirect our tax dollars into healthcare, education, green jobs and other life-affirming programs. The organization is also an affiliate of World BEYOND War."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: CODEPINK - Women for Peace

Headings: Sign up to fast for Gaza, and send your lunch money to feed people in Gaza!; Charge Israel With Genocide at the International Court of Justice!; Tell Congress: Hands off Yemen! Ceasefire Now!; FREE PALESTINE! Join our upcoming community events!; Join us to become a CODEPINK organizer!; Tell Biden unfreeze Venezuela's funds!; Tell the Senate to Reject Campbell as Deputy Secretary of State!; Sign up for updates; FIND DIFFERENT WAYS TO GET INVOLVED; FOLLOW US;; ISSUES & CAMPAIGNS; SEE ALL ISSUES; PINK TANK ~ BLOG; SEE ALL POSTS; COMMUNITY; Twitter; Facebook; Instagram; TikTok; COMING SOON; COMING SOON; COMING SOON; CODEPINKERS IN ACTION; Meet Kelly Curry; Meet Priti Gulati Cox; Meet Tanya and Jim Klein Paragraphs: Optional email code; Israel's occupation and annexation of Palestine isn't just cruel and inhumane, it's illegal under international law. Join us in demanding justice, equality, and freedom for the Palestinian people; Stop the War in Ukraine. Russian Troops Out. No to NATO expansion. The world cannot risk a military confrontation between the world's two most heavily armed nuclear states - the...; If we are to collectively confront climate change, global inequality, and other existential threats, we must cultivate peace with China. China is not our enemy!; For years the United States helped Saudi Arabia wage a war and blockade on the people of Yemen that created the worlds largest humanitarian crisis. It's time to end the...; January 18, 2024; January 18, 2024; January 17, 2024; January 17, 2024; January 17, 2024; January 10, 2024; January 08, 2024; January 06, 2024; Meet Kelly, an author, publisher, relationship-builder and social justice activist who has been working as CODEPINK's Local Peace Economy Organizer for over two years. Kelly is known for her love of writing, storytelling and sharing healthy, living foods to create powerful, on the ground shifts of consciousness and build community globally. In the...; Priti Gulati Cox, an artist, activist, and native of India, has been living in Salina, Kansas since 2000. From 2006 to 2013 she worked on a project titled Unfinished Portrait that tracked the footsteps of a post-9/11 world and the human cost of the U.S. led invasions and occupation of Iraq and...; Tanya and Jim are screenwriters and story analysts living in Los Angeles. They are passionate about justice and equality and despairing because there is way too little of it in the world. They've been active with CODEPINK for a little over two years. They are very much aware that all of the...; CODEPINK is a non-profit charity with 501(c)(3) tax exempt status in the United States. Our Tax Identification Number is 26-2823386.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: What is CODEPINK - CODEPINK - Women for Peace

Headings: What is CODEPINK; What is CODEPINK?; What we do; How we do it; Why women?; How did we get started?; CODEPINK statement of nonviolence; Pink action principles

Paragraphs: CODEPINK is a feminist grassroots organization working to end U.S. warfare and imperialism, support peace and human rights initiatives, and redirect resources into healthcare, education, green jobs and other life-affirming* programs. Join us!; Life-affirming programs are investments in social programs that uplift human dignity instead of tear it down. We believe universal health care must include the right to an abortion, access to education must not be determined by income bracket, and housing is a human right.; ; Founded in fall 2002 as a grassroots effort to prevent the US war on Iraq, we continue to organize for justice for Iraqis, to hold war criminals accountable, and to end and prevent other U.S. wars and regime change efforts. We actively oppose U.S. sanctions on Iran, Venezuela, N. Korea, Cuba, as well as torture, the detention center at Guantanamo, weaponized and spy drones, and the prosecution of whistle-blowers. We support Palestinian rights, diplomacy, and growing local peace economies. Our flagship campaign is Divest from the War Machine to divest from companies that derive their profits from U.S. military interventions, the global arms trade, and the militarization of our streets.; Rooted in a network of local organizers, online supporters and generous donors, with an emphasis on joy and humor, our tactics include satire, street theatre, creative visuals, civil resistance, and directly challenging powerful decision-makers in government and corporations. And of course, wearing pink!; CODEPINK is not exclusively women - we invite non-binary, gender-non-conforming people, and men to join us.; Medea Benjamin, Jodie Evans, Diane Wilson, Starhawk and about 100 other women kicked off CODEPINK on November 17, 2002. We set up for a 4-month all-day vigil in front of the White House during the cold of winter to protest the U.S. led war on Iraq.; The vigil inspired people from all walks of life, and from all over the country, to stand for peace. Many organizations joined us, including Global Exchange, Greenpeace, WILPF, WAND, Public Citizen, NOW, Women for Women International and Neighbors for Peace and Justice. The vigil culminated on March 8, International Women's Day, when we celebrated women as global peacemakers with a week of activities, rallies and a march to encircle the White House in pink.; Over 10,000 people participated, and a group of 25 women, including Alice Walker, Maxine Hong Kingston, Susan Griffin, Starhawk, Jodie Evans and Medea Benjamin, were arrested for taking our peaceful protest right up to the White House gate.; CODEPINK thus emerged out of a deep desire by a group of American women to stop the United States from invading Iraq. The name CODEPINK plays on the former Bush Administration's color-coded homeland security alerts - yellow, orange, red - that signaled terrorist threats. While Bush's color-coded alerts were based on fear and were used to justify violence, the CODEPINK alert is a feisty call for people to "wage peace."; Since then, CODEPINK has become a worldwide network of people committed to working for peace and social justice. We have become famous for confronting the warmongers, in the halls and hearing rooms of Congress, the national conventions of both the Republicans and Democrats, political fundraisers, and in the streets.; CODEPINK is grounded in the understanding of the power of love and maintains a commitment to nonviolence in all of our actions. We understand that any violation of this commitment to nonviolence-no matter how small-may seriously damage our movement.; We define nonviolence to include the following elements;; CODEPINK is a non-profit charity with 501(c)(3) tax exempt status in the United States. Our Tax Identification Number is 26-2823386.

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based solely on the provided information, it can be inferred that this organization is involved in various political and social causes, with a focus on peace and human rights. The organization appears to be actively engaged in activism, organizing events, and raising awareness about issues such as ending wars, supporting peace initiatives, and redirecting funds towards social programs. Additionally, it seems to have a strong online presence with links to social media platforms and other digital resources. The organization also appears to have a diverse range of activities, including webinars, press releases, and campaigns, suggesting a multifaceted approach to its advocacy work."""