

""Twitter handle (and profile name): EllenKnutson (Ellen Knutson)

Twitter description: I get paid to think about civic engagement, higher education and libraries. I like bikes & food & music & print making & museums & libraries & travel.

Description of the organization from a third party source: "Ellen M. Knutson is a Portland, Oregon based research associate at the Charles F. Kettering Foundation where she is a key member of the research team developing libraries as centers for public dialogue and deliberation. She is an adjunct assistant professor at the School of Information Sciences at the University of Illinois where she teaches a course on community engagement. Knutson also serves on the advisory committee for the American Library Association's Center for Civic Life. In addition to working with librarians, she works with college and university faculty members who want to include elements of civic engagement in their teaching and research, and who want to encourage their students to become more civically engaged."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: Ellen Knutson | Exploring. Teaching. Engaging.

Headings: Ellen Knutson; Exploring. Teaching. Engaging.; Menu; This is me; Leave a Reply Cancel reply; Categories; Archives; Meta

Paragraphs: I've been working in the civic engagement field in some shape or form since I was 12 and I volunteered for the Colorado Freeze Voter campaign to organize voters to close Rocky Flats. The ways that people come together to address common problems and/or better their communities is where I have focused my career.; Since the late 1990s I have worked in some capacity the Charles F. Kettering Foundation. Currently with Kettering, I design and facilitate a workshop for college and university faculty members who want to include elements of civic engagement in their teaching and research, and who want to encourage their students to become more civically engaged. In another project I am working with colleagues in Russia who are using deliberative dialog to address ethnic tensions in three Russian cities (Perm, Bryansk and Vologda). I am also working with US based colleagues who are holding deliberative dialogs around the issue of immigration.; I have also worked with community groups who want to use research to help them learn from their experiences and tell their story more effectively.; I teach in the online program at the Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the University of Illinois. I teach the theory and practice of community engagement to future librarians and information professionals.; Through the years I have been fortunate to work with a wide range of people from diverse backgrounds from whom I have learned a great deal.; For my full CV, find me on LinkedIn; You must be logged in to post a comment.

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: Exploring | Ellen Knutson

Headings: Ellen Knutson; Exploring. Teaching. Engaging.; Menu; Exploring; Categories; Archives; Meta

Paragraphs: I like to go places. I especially like to go by bicycle and by train.

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based solely on the information provided, it is possible to infer that Ellen Knutson is an individual with an online presence. The links provided include social media profiles, personal websites, and blog posts. There are also references to organizations such as Kettering.org, lis.illinois.edu, and wordpress.org, suggesting that Ellen Knutson may be affiliated with these organizations in some capacity. Additionally, the presence of login pages and RSS feeds indicates that Ellen Knutson's website allows for user interaction and content sharing. However, without further context or additional information, it is difficult to determine the exact nature of Ellen Knutson's organization or her specific role within it.""