Description of the organization from a third party source: "We equip exceptional youth and educators with the skills and relationships they need to accelerate social, economic, and political changes essential for peace. Founded in 1993, our network now includes 7,021 alumni throughout the Middle East, South Asia, Europe, and the United States who are uniquely positioned to lead change. Our leadership development model begins with a transformational camp session in Maine. The program shifts attitudes and perceptions and builds respect and empathy. After graduating from the Camp, participants build on their experiences through over 145 local year-round leadership development programs that strengthen relationships and leadership capacities. We then accelerate the impact of our alumni who are challenging the ideologies, policies, and practices that perpetuate conflict through fellowships and convenings."
