

""Twitter handle (and profile name): mupeacemaking (MU Peacemaking)

Twitter description: Marquette University Center for Peacemaking | Exploring the Power of Nonviolence

Description of the organization from a third party source: "The Center for Peacemaking is an academic center at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin that fosters research and action for the promotion of peace, human dignity, and justice. We were founded in 2008."

Scraped text from their home page of their website: Titles: Center for Peacemaking // Marquette University

Headings: Learn more; News; Events; Current Students; Peace Studies; Jobs & Careers; Peace Works; Scaling Wellness in Milwaukee; Promoting Assets, Reducing Crime; Interreligious Peacemaking; Support peacemaking, support Marquette; Testimonials; Welcome to the Center for Peacemaking!; Center News and Events; Welcome; Information for; Signature initiatives; The Center on social media; Problem with this webpage?; Feature Stories; Peacemaking Careers; Be The Difference

Paragraphs: Looking to be part of something greater than yourself? Our student programs, faculty research, and community initiatives engage almost every college and department on campus. We invite you to join us in exploring the power of nonviolence.; Center for Peacemaking to partner with Scaling Wellness in Milwaukee; Grantees collaborate on restorative justice research; Looking back at 2023: Year in Review; Civil Rights Pilgrimage travel diary; Near West Side Partners, Marquette focus on neighborhood vitality; Success Center supports student social emotional learning; More news; Sign up for our newsletter to get information about upcoming student gatherings, immersion trips, and speakers.; Jan 17, noon: Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration; Feb 5, 3:30 pm: Ignatian Peacemaking Lecture; Feb 7, noon: Soup with Substance - Refugee Resettlement; Feb 19: Applications due for student summer peacemaking fellowships; More events and details; Sign up for our newsletter; Report an accessibility problem.To report another problem, please contact christopher.jeske@marquette.edu.; Curious how Marquette students and faculty are exploring the power of nonviolence? Read their stories.; Interested in pursuing peace through your career? Start exploring with the Making a Living, Making a Difference guidebook.; When you give to the Center for Peacemaking, you shape the lives of aspiring peacemakers and changemakers. Make a gift today!; Marquette University_x000D_

Center for Peacemaking1616 W. Wells St._x000D_

Milwaukee, WI 53233Phone: (414) 288-8444; ABCDEFGHIJKLM NOPQRSTUVWXYZ; Privacy Policy Legal Disclaimer Non-Discrimination Policy Accessible Technology; (C) 2024
Marquette University

Scraped text from their about page of their website: Titles: About // Center for Peacemaking // Marquette University

Headings: Learn more; News; Events; Current Students; Peace Studies; Jobs & Careers; Peace Works; Scaling Wellness in Milwaukee; Promoting Assets, Reducing Crime; Interreligious Peacemaking; Support peacemaking, support Marquette; Testimonials; About the Center; Our Mission; Our History; Catholic and Jesuit; Diversity and Inclusion; Learn More; Information for; Signature initiatives; The Center on social media; Problem with this webpage?

Paragraphs: Marquette.edu // Center for Peacemaking //; The Center for Peacemaking is an academic center at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin that fosters research and action for the promotion of peace, human dignity, and justice.; The center's programs provide students opportunities to develop peacemaking skills and faculty avenues to research nonviolence. The center's impact reaches near and far beyond campus-through social action projects based in Milwaukee to international partnerships in Afghanistan, El Salvador, and India.; The Marquette University Center for Peacemaking strives to empower the university and wider community to explore together the necessary skills to become informed, spiritually centered, nonviolent peacemakers. Rooted in the Ignatian charism, the center works with a spirit of confidence and joy to achieve an awakening to the complementary relationship of scholarship, spirituality, nonviolent living, and the active struggle for peace and justice.; In Fall 2006, Dr. Terry and Sally Rynne proposed an audacious vision: What if every student at Marquette learned how to work nonviolently for the promotion of peace before they graduated?; This question captured the imaginations of co-founder Dr. Michael Duffey and founding director Rev. G. Simon Harak, S.J., who galvanized support among students, faculty, and staff. The Center for Peacemaking opened on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, January 15, 2008.; What started as a small experiment has grown into one of Marquette's most robust academic centers. Students are graduating with peace studies degrees, faculty are producing scholarship on nonviolence, and peacemaking initiatives are engaging and transforming communities.; In Spring 2019, the National Catholic Reporter and Milwaukee Journal Sentinel published profiles on the center.; The center's work is mutually informed by the rich traditions of Catholic social thought, gospel nonviolence and the Jesuit mission of reconciliation and working for peace.; As a Jesuit social center, we understand that when knowledge creation and informed action is directed toward solving pressing community needs, social transformation occurs. This is the essence of Jesuit education and praxis.; The center's offices are filled with the vibrancy, energy and joy that our staff, students, faculty and community members bring to our shared work of building a more just world. As a space dedicated to learning and growth, we welcome all people and encourage the discussion, debate, and exchange of ideas with the goal of seeking truth.; The Center for Peacemaking endorses Marquette's Statement on Human Dignity and Diversity to cherish the dignity of each individual regardless of age, culture, faith, ethnicity, race, gender, sexual orientation, language, disability or social class.; Sign up for our newsletter; Report an accessibility problem.To report another problem, please contact christopher.jeske@marquette.edu.; Marquette University _x000D_

Center for Peacemaking1616 W. Wells St._x000D_

Milwaukee, WI 53233Phone: (414) 288-8444; ABCDEFGHIJKLM NOPQRSTUVWXYZ; Privacy Policy Legal Disclaimer Non-Discrimination Policy Accessible Technology; (C) 2024 Marquette University

Scraped text from their mission page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Scraped text from their history page of their website: Titles: NA

Headings: NA

Paragraphs: NA

Summaries of Links: Based solely on the provided information, it can be inferred that this organization is likely a university department or center focused on peacemaking and conflict resolution. The presence of links to pages about peace studies, peacemaking initiatives, and events suggests that the organization is actively involved in promoting peace and understanding. The mention of faculty, research areas, and student opportunities indicates that the organization has an academic component, potentially offering courses, research opportunities, and student programs related to peacemaking. The inclusion of links to social media accounts and a newsletter signup form suggests that the organization actively engages with the community and seeks to raise awareness about its mission and activities. While the specific context and affiliation of the organization cannot be determined from the provided information, it is evident that it is dedicated to fostering peace and promoting nonviolent conflict resolution."""